4) Read the following passage, then answer the questions. (4 marks)

An old house in a historic neighbourhood was turned into a small cultural centre. The builders kept its original wooden windows and reused its stone floor. They added roof panels that produced electricity from sunlight. Inside, visitors could see photographs of the neighbourhood and attend talks about its history. A sign explained how the panels reduced the building's need for other energy sources. The centre showed that caring for an old place did not mean refusing all modern improvements. It could keep its character while using resources more wisely.
